disparities in access to mental health services among the underserved Latino population concentrated in Salt Lake County and the rest Utah. As an organization run by peers, LBHS exists to enhance the mental health awareness and well-being of people with mental illness, their care-givers and loved ones through support, education, empowerment, facilitation of resources and services with competent responsiveness to cultural, socio-economic and linguistic characteristics. The work of LBHS embodies a theory of change rooted in capacity building: teach a woman to fish one at a time. The boards of directors as well as all resident partners working for LBHS are individuals who have personally been affected by both mental illness, minority status and immigration. People come to our programs to seek support for themselves or their families. Individuals and families raise their awareness. They learn. They are supported. They move into recovery and a greater state of well-being. With new knowledge and changed attitudes, they are often inspired to give back to the community that helped them. We hope to build the capacity of each individual that chooses to get more involved. We provide them with training, new skills, and opportunities to teach or to engage in outreach. In this way, our programs are sustainable and build capacity into families and communities. Through this process, we seek to increase knowledge about mental illness in the community, reduce stigma, and empower people to create change.

LBHS during this period (July 1, 2019 - June 30, 2020) experienced significant challenges and managed to sustain services at an equal or similar level that years before. During this period, the BOD hired Javier Alegre as the Executive Director, relieving Diana Aguilera in this position. Javier Took over as the ED in November of 2019 and has remained as the ED to the present day. During this period, the organization completed planning and executed the 2020 Utah Peer Conference in April, due to COVID the format was changed to virtual, and LBHS was able to organize and successfully host the conference with over 250 virtual participants. In addition, LBHS was able to adapt its service model to online and virtual platforms once COVID made one-on-one services impossible. Currently, we are providing all services 100% online and will continue to do so until the CDC advises otherwise. Lastly, during this period LBHS relocated offices to a much suitable space for the services we provide. The new office space is just under 2500 SF and centrally located in South Salt Lake at 3269 S Main St.
